STRIKING FIGURES PRESENTED BY SENATOR BLAINE.

BEN HILL GETS MORE THAN HE BARGAINED FOR.

We copy below from the Congressional Record the official report of Senator Blaine's crushing reply to the attack on Rhode Island's quota of representation in Congress in the debate in the Senate Thursday May 29. It will be seen that Ben Hill, of Georgia, took a hand in the discussion and fared as ill as usual in his encounters with the Senator from Maine. Mr Blaine's statements, however, have more than a controversial interest, and will command the serious attention of all thoughtful, patriotic citizens

Mr Blaine. I do not rise to object to the passage of the resolution, but there was some reference made yesterday morning, first by the Senator from Indiana who introduced the resolutions, and then by some other Senators, in regard to the basis of representation among the States. The allegation against Rhode Island was that she was entirely insufficient in numbers to entitle her to the representation that she holds in the popular branch of Congress. I had some curiosity to look over the subject in a little more extended detail than refers to Rhode Island alone, and I got some results which interested me, if they do not interest the Senate. Looking over the whole question of representation in the country, and the relative increase of population at different points since the last census was taken being shown in the votes for Representatives to Congress in 1878, I found some results which arrested my attention

The total vote in the Northern States last year 1878 for Representative to Congress was 4 907,846. The total vote in the Southern States was 1 964,441. The Northern States elected one hundred and twenty-eight Republicans and opposed to the Republicans, Democrats and Independents or whatever name they choose to assume there were fifty five chosen. In the South there were one hundred Democrats elected and six who were not Democrats, at least when they were elected. The average vote cast in the districts of the North was 26, 819. The honorable Senator from Indiana yesterday thought the average was 34 000. The average throughout the North amounted to 26,819. The average throughout the South was 18 833

Mr Bitch. The Senator from Maine will not, but to remember that the Senator from Indiana (Mr McDonald) is not in his seat. I suggest that he spoke of his own State alone, and not of others

Mr Blaine. I do not intend to misrepresent the Senator from Indiana

Mr Feller. I know the Senator does not

Mr Blaine. I am only speaking in figures. The average I understood him to state as I have given it. The Record will be better evidence

Mr Feller. The Senator from Indiana did state that as the average.

Mr Blaine. The Record will show whether I am correct or not. The average throughout the sixteen Southern States was 18,532. This average was made high er by the undoubted and very great increase in the State of Texas, by a very considerable increase in Missouri, by a strong vote in West Virginia, and by a very remarkable vote in South Carolina, on which I will not further comment at this time. After taking out those four States the average in the Southern States to each district was only 14 333

There were in the Southern States only thirty-three districts that went above 20 000. In the Northern States there were one hundred and seventy seven districts that went above 20,000. Any gentleman who is curious to follow those figures will see that whether you have regard to the population of the district or to the persons who voted for the sitting member the majority in the House of Representatives today actually represents from one hundred and fifty to two hundred and fifty thousand more voters than the so-called majority in the House of Representatives, and I do not know but three hundred thousand more

Some of the results are really, I think, very remarkable. For instance, if you take the third, the sixth, and the eighth districts of Georgia, the seventh and eighth districts of Alabama, and the sixth and seventh districts of North Carolina, the sixth district of Kentucky, and the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth districts of Mississippi, twelve districts in all, you have an aggregate vote of 68,512. In Nebraska you have 50,247 of an aggregate vote for one Representative. In other words you have 50,247 of an aggregate vote for one Representative. In other words, twelve Representatives from as many southern districts represent the Democratic party with an aggregate vote behind them of 68,512, while one Republican Representative from Nebraska has behind him 50,247 votes

Nor does the case stand alone. Alabama with eight members cast 88,000 votes. Minnesota with three members cast 90,000 votes; Virginia with nine members cast 126,000 votes; Kansas with three members cast 136,000 votes, Kentucky with ten members cast 160,000 votes; Michigan with nine members cast 231,000 votes; Louisiana with 118,000 votes sent six members; whereas Nebraska, Colorado, and Oregon all together cast 127,000 votes with three members, or the aggregate of Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, and Louisiana, reaching 544,970 votes, sent thirty-nine members, while Nebraska, Minnesota, Kansas, Michigan, Colorado, and Oregon, with an aggregate of 629,000 votes, sent only eighteen members. In other words, 544,000 votes in the South sent thirty-nine Democratic members to the House of Representatives, and 629,000 votes in the North sent eighteen Republican members, that is with 100,000 votes less in these Southern States than in the Northern States named they sent more than twice as many Democratic Representatives as the North sent Republican members. We have heard a good deal here about the small States being represented in the Senate, and the inequality of representation here, while the inequality is getting to be worse at the other end of the Capitol than it is here, if you put it upon a numerical basis, and there it ought to be exact.

Mr. Saulsbury. I should like to ask the Senator if the apportionment of representation in Congress is not made upon the basis of the census of 1870?

Mr. Blaine—Yes

Mr. Saulsbury—And was not that census under the control and management of the Republican party of the country?

Mr Blaine—Yes

Mr Saulsbury—And did not the Republican party of the country fix the the apportionment of members of Congress?

Mr Blaine—Yes

Mr Saulsbury—Then the Senator ought not to complain of the results of the act of his own party.

Mr. Blaine—But the Republicans did all that on the presumption that the votes to which the Representatives were apportioned would be allowed to be cast. That is the difference. They went on the manifest but, as it has proved, baseless presumption that the voters to whom these Representatives were assigned and in virtue of whose numbers the Representatives were given to the States, would be allowed to have an unbiased and unrestricted choice in selecting them. The honorable Senator from Delaware will probably apprehend my meaning and see that he omitted that consideration in his question

Mr Saulsbury—I have heard intimations of that kind before

Mr Blaine—I thought the Senator might have heard them at any time within the last ten years

Mr Saulsbury—And I give very little credit to them when I hear them. On the other hand, I might express an opinion that there have been in the Northern States a large number of votes cast that ought not to have been cast, if I saw proper to insinuate, but that would not be authority, I apprehend

Mr Blaine—The honorable Senator from Georgia will hardly speak of insinuation when I speak from official reports. If he chooses to insinuate as a matter of taste he may. I do not insinuate anything I state

Mr Hill, of Georgia—What has the Senator from Georgia got to do with it? Has he said anything?

Mr Blaine—I did not say anything about the Senator from Georgia.

Mr Hill, of Georgia—You did say 'the Senator from Georgia.'

Mr Davis of Illinois and others (to Mr Blaine) You did say 'Senator from Georgia'?

Mr Blaine—I meant to say 'Senator from Delaware.'

Mr Hill, of Georgia—You seem to have the Senator from Georgia on the brain

Mr Blaine—Not a bit of it

Mr Hill, of Georgia—And you do not have him very correctly either

Mr McDonald—I should like to ask the Senator from Maine a question

The President pro tempore—Does the Senator from Maine yield?

Mr Blaine—I do not think in placing the Senator from Georgia along with the Senator from Delaware that I did any injustice to either

Mr McDonald—I should like to ask a question whether in any of those States any persons were denied the right to vote on terms that were not applicable to all citizens of the United States in those States?

Mr Blaine—I do not understand the question

Mr McDonald—Was there any qualification or disqualification of voting in any of those States that extended to one class of citizens which did not extend alike to all?

Mr Blaine—You mean on the statute book?

Mr McDonald—Yes sir

Mr Blaine—Oh

Mr McDonald—The law

Mr Blaine—Yes, the law, that is not what we are talking about. We are talking about the actual numbers at the polls where did exist that contain more than 30, 000 lawful voters were represented and are represented to-day by men for whom 1 000 or 4 000 votes were cast. As the honorable Senator from Georgia thinks I have got him on the horns I will reproduce him again. Yesterday he pointed out the fact that there was no need of anybody else looking around, because the thing was all settled in advance

Mr Hill of Georgia—The Senator from Georgia said no such thing

Mr McDonald and Mr Saulsbury addressed the Chair

The President pro tempore—Does the Senator from Maine yield and if so to whom?

Mr Blaine—I yield to any one who desires to interrupt me

The President pro tempore—The Senator will suspend. There are three Senators on the floor to whom does the Senator from Maine yield

Mr Blaine—I will let the Chair decide

The President pro tempore—No, sir, the Chair will not decide

Mr Blaine—The Senator from Indiana was the one to whom I was yielding

Mr McDonald—I have retired

Mr Hill, of Georgia—Mr President—

The President pro tempore—Does the Senator from Maine yield to the Senator from Georgia?

Mr Blaine—I do if the Senator from Indiana has retired

Mr Hill, of Georgia—I was going to say that the Senator from Georgia said no such thing as the Senator from Maine quotes him as saying. The Senator from Georgia expressed exceeding gratification if for once in his life the Senator from Maine will quote him correctly

Mr Blaine—The Senator from Georgia is a difficult man to quote correctly, but what the Senator from Georgia yesterday asserted (whether he did it ironically or really, was that practically Republicans were not allowed to vote in Georgia

Mr Hill, of Georgia—That is not true again

Mr. Blaine—I will get the Record

Mr. Hill, of Georgia—The Senator from Georgia said no such thing. The Senator from Georgia said that every body was allowed to vote

Mr Blaine—Oh they were allowed to come out to vote when Democrats were running. If a district was divided between two Democrats, then the Republican vote might come out; but in Georgia the record shows that when there were not two Democratic candidates and an attempt was made to run a Republican against a Democrat, then there was a walk over on the part of the Democrats. That was the case in several districts, and I will show cases, if necessary to state figures to show it, in districts where in 1878 Democrats got the certificates of election on votes very much less than the Republican vote in that district had been two years before

Mr Hill, of Georgia—The Senator from Georgia has never said nor intimated in the remotest degree that anybody, Republican or Democrat, was not allowed to vote in Georgia. Any intimation of that kind is utterly untrue. What the Senator from Georgia did say is printed in the Record and justifies no such charge as that made by the Senator from Maine. The Senator from Georgia stated that everybody was allowed to run in Georgia who chose to run, everybody was allowed to vote in Georgia who chose to vote, certainly I might add if qualified to vote. The Senator from Maine has no right to misquote my language or misinterpret my meaning

Mr. Blaine—Will the honorable Senator from Georgia, as long as he is on the floor, then, give an explanation to the Senate how it was that in districts in Georgia which only in 1878, and notably so in years before, cast a Republican vote very much larger than the total vote of the district as counted in 1878? Why were not the Republicans out?

Mr. Hill, of Georgia—No such state of things exists except in those districts where there were no opposition candidates.

Mr. Blaine—Why was there not an opposition candidate when there were notably a great many more Republican voters than the number of votes the sitting member received? That is the question.

Mr. Hill, of Georgia—I stated yesterday that there were no opposition candidates simply because, as far as I knew, nobody else chose to run.

Mr. Blaine—The honorable Senator knows no reason for their not choosing to run.

Mr. Hill, of Georgia—The Senator wants me to answer his insinuation that there was any means brought to bear by which anybody was prevented from running that wanted to run, by which anybody was prevented from voting that wanted to vote.

I simply say his insinuations are utterly without foundation in fact, and have no support but his own statement which is no support at all

Mr Blaine—I am glad the honorable Senator yesterday stated

It is truly astonishing as it may seem to the brilliant intellect of the Senator from Maine that a Republican is allowed to choose between Democrats in Georgia—a happy condition of things

I am reading from the Senator from Georgia

I do not know whether that is allowed in Maine or not.

We go a good deal further in Maine. We allow a voter to choose between a Republican and a Democrat, and I assert that the vote in Georgia shows very clearly that in several districts that was not permitted and witnesses can be produced by the thousands and tens of thousands who will swear to that in any presence—no I take that back, they will not swear to it in the presence that intimidated them from doing it. They will swear to it in any presence where to take such an oath is personally safe.

Mr Hill of Georgia—I have repeated on several occasions that every statement and intimation made by the Senator from Maine that anybody was prevented from running in Georgia or that anybody was prevented from voting in Georgia was utterly untrue. I do not see what more I can say.

Mr Blaine—No and I do not know that there is any need of his saying that. I only repeat that three Representatives from Georgia to-day hold their seats by having the following votes one by 2,693, one by 3 192, and one by 3 300 and those are all the votes cast in the district. Order reigns in Warsaw

Mr Hill of Georgia—The statement has been made distinctly to the Senate and understood by every gentleman in the Senate excepting the Senator from Maine that in the districts to which he alludes there was no opposition candidate

Mr Blaine—Oh!

Mr Hill of Georgia—There was but one election at that time and that the election for member of Congress, and the people as usual in such cases did not choose to turn out

Mr Blaine—But I have repeated again and again that as late as 1876 in those very districts there were two or three times as many Republican votes cast as those members who now sit in the House of Representatives representing those districts received. Here is a district that contains 30 000 votes and the honorable Senator from Georgia attempts to create the impression that there was such absolute unanimity of the choice that only 2,628 persons were needed to do the voting

Mr Hill, of Georgia—In 18 6 there were opposition candidates. In 1876 during the presidential campaign there was a Republican ticket in the field. Mr Hayes and Mr Wheeler, there was also a Democratic ticket in the field, and I suppose this brought out the votes of each party. But I presume if the Senator will examine he will find that in all the districts in 1876 the Democratic vote was largely in the majority. I suppose in 1878 when there was no Republican candidate in the field and the Democrats were in the majority in the districts, the Republicans chose of their own accord not to bring forth candidates. I suppose they have the liberty not to run candidates if they choose not to do so

Mr Blaine—Yes. I believe that is a liberty that is accorded to them

Mr Hill of Georgia—Yes

Mr. Blaine—They are permitted not to bring out a candidate they are freely conceded the right not to vote. That is about what the admission of the Senator from Georgia amounts to

Mr Hill, of Georgia—If the Senator means that they are prohibited from bringing out a candidate, I he desires to state that, he says that which is not correct

Mr Blaine—I do so say that and I say it in the presence of the country and I say it on the records of history and I say it to the honorable Senator from Georgia whether he make such criminal insinuations in senatorial phrase or whether he makes a denial when he intends to be offensive, is flying in the face of history and against the recorded fact. It is known in Georgia it is known in Georgia by Republicans of as good character as the honorable Senator has that they did not dare to bring out a candidate and they were not permitted to bring out a candidate

Mr Hill, of Georgia—I do not know who has sworn that; but I only know that if anybody has sworn it he has sworn falsely

Mr Blaine—That is the honorable Senator's opinion. I choose to have another and a great majority of the country choose to have another. The Senator is welcome to his opinion. That is mine, and I am welcome to mine. The facts are better than the opinion of either of us and the honorable Senator cannot stand up here before the country and say that in a district where there are thirty-odd thousand voter and where two years ago when there was some protection extended to voters there were more than 10 000 Republican votes cast all those 10 000 Republican voters stayed at home quietly in 1878 and allowed a Democrat to be chosen by 2 628 voters. If the honorable Senator considers that to be a statement he wants to stand on, I am willing that he shall stand there. I am entirely willing that he shall stand there. It is that anomaly that this absurdity in the face of the country that in a district known to hold over 10 000 Republican votes, in a district which within two years has cast 10 000 Republican votes, all those voters would quietly stay at home in a year of great excitement throughout the country when there was a tremendous contest for the mastery of the House of Representatives, that those 10, 000 people would quietly stay at home and allow 2 628 Democrats to choose a Representative in Congress. It is on such facts as that that I am glad to see the honorable Senator ground and rest his defense of the case.

Mr Hill, of Georgia—The Senator from Georgia grounds and rests his defence on no facts stated by the Senator from Maine. He wishes that to be distinctly understood.

Mr Blaine—Or anybody else

Mr Hill, of Georgia—No I do not say that

The Lewiston Journal says The advance in Lewiston cotton mill stocks continues, and our manufacturers are in the best of spirits. Hill stock has sold at 91 and is now held at par—an advance of from 30 to 40 per cent. during the past year. Androscoggin stock is now at par. Bates stock is firm at 130. Franklin is advancing, and 60 is offered and refused. Parties telegraphed yesterday hence to Boston, offering 60 and could find no sellers at that price. The Continental is doing a first-class business. Its goods have advanced 1½ cents, and selling agents make no figures for future delivery. In fine, if the good times coming are not here, they may never be looked for. All our mills will make handsome profits for the half year ending July 1st. This is the result of resumption. The farmers already begun to see the improvement in business and they will feel it more before autumn.

The Machias Republican says The list of fires for the last fortnight is certainly alarming. There is something startling in it. The dwelling house of Joseph W. Coffin, Esq., of Columbia, caught fire on the roof, on the 28th of May, and was destroyed, together with a greater part of the goods. At the time the fire was discovered no one was at home but Mrs. Coffin and a servant girl. Mr. C. and a crew of men were at work a short distance from the house, but out of sight of it. Loss $1200, insured for $500.

At the meeting of the City Council on Thursday, at Hallowell the committee appointed for the purpose reported that the Academy building and lot had been purchased for the city for the sum of $2300. Committee on estimates for building school house, made a report. Single house $2500, suitable for two schools, $4000. Other orders were passed concerning school buildings, estimates, &c.

The horse did not bring the full weight of his foot down on the ankle, or it would have been crushed at once. The boy is now at play as usual.

Deal Gently with the Stomach.

If it proved refractory mild discipline is the thing to set it right. Not all the nauseous draughts and boluses ever invented can do half as much to remedy its disorders as a few wineglass fulls—say, three a day—of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will afford it speedy relief and eventually banish every dyspeptic and bilious symptom. Sick headache nervousness follow in the train of the complaint for upon the integrity of the stomach and those many indescribable but disagreeable sensations caused by indigestion is too often perpetuated by injudicious dosing. An immediate abandonment of such random and doubtful experiments should be the first step in the direction of cure the next step the use of the only standard tonic alterative which has received the highest medical sanction and won unprecedented popularity. eod June 15

A Republican State Convention

WILL BE HELD IN

NOROMBEGA HALL, BANGOR,

Thursday, June 26, 1879,

at 11 o'clock A. M.,

for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, and for transacting whatever business may properly come before it.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for each city, town and plantation, and an additional delegate for every seventy five votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1[illegible]. A majority fraction will be entitled to a delegate.

The State Committee will be in session the evening preceding and at 9 o'clock the morning of the Convention, to receive the credentials of delegates.

In selecting the Delegates the Republicans are urged to assemble in full numbers and to invoke the aid and co-operation of all voters who are willing to unite with them to the following ends:

1. To maintain the power and prestige of the Union against all attempts to subvert or oppose its just authority, and to insist that the Government of the United States shall be controlled by loyal men.

2. To discountenance and reprobate the treasonable and revolutionary course of the Democrats in Congress, who threaten to cripple and destroy the functions of the Government if Constitution all prevented from enacting their partisan measures into Law.

3. To uphold the right of the United States to enforce its own laws wherever they are to operate, and to frown down and put down the dangerous heresy of the States Right secession sts who have already plunged the country into one bloody war and who are now attempting to control the Government of the Union with the same measures that preceded the rebellion of 1861.

4. To insist upon free elections—not only free from National military interference, which no one desires but also free from the interference and violence of so-called State militia and the assassins who with deadly weapons have seized the polls in many of the Southern States driving innocent and defenceless voters from the ballot-box and making a mockery of elections, which war upon free suffrage has been made a distinct political issue by every Democrat in the Senate and House voting against a measure designed to prevent and suppress it.

5. To uphold the financial credit of the Government and to assure to the people of all sections a sound currency equivalent to coin at all times and in all places and redeemable in coin. And to this end to oppose all distracting, repudiating and mischievous efforts against the peace, welfare and industrial prosperity of the People.

In these aims and purposes all citizens of Maine are invited to unite that the hands of the President and of the Republican minority in both branches of Congress may be strengthened in their efforts to uphold the honor of the Government and the just authority of National Law.

J. O. SMITH, Secretary

Refuses to Publish Facts.

We have at last succeeded in obtaining from the Bangor Commercial a reply to our demand that it furnish to its readers the official statement of the figures of the public debt and the results of the funding operations as given by the Secretary of the Treasury from the books of the Finance Department. The reply is a plump refusal to print the official record of facts upon a subject which it desires to misrepresent for partisan purpose during the coming campaign.

In order to prevent any excuse we mailed to the editor of the Commercial an official copy of the Treasury statement, and his reply in last evening's paper was as follows:

We acknowledge the receipt of an "official communication from the editor of THE WHIG, and beg leave to reply—also officially—that we will publish the campaign documents of Mr John Sherman in reasonable amounts at our regular advertising rates, in the meantime the document is subject to its sender's order. When Senator Davis prepares his report upon the true condition of the Treasury of the United States it will doubtless contain some facts which it will be for the interest of the people to learn and it will therefore be prompt[ly] presented in the columns of the Commer[cial] to which the public have become accustomed to turn when in search of the news.

No decent paper could survive such a shameless statement of its dishonest purpose to suppress the authenticated facts furnished to the people by the custodians of the national finances.

The official tabulation of the figures on the public debt and of the operations of refunding it childishly characterizes as John Sherman's campaign documents and declares that it will not publish them except at advertising rates! But when Senator Davis, of West Virginia, shall have prepared a report of his nonsensical ideas about errors in Treasury bookkeeping that he has been fooling with for several years in a fashion that has made him the laughing-stock of Washington, then the Commercial will "promptly" furnish him space that it denies to the authenticated statement of the responsible officers of the Government! Does it think that all the Democratic business men of this city are knaves or fools? or does it care only for the approval of the Central street clique of Bourbon Inflationists?

We put the reply of the editor of the Commercial on record as a curiosity. It is the first time we have ever extorted a specific refusal to print official figures. They have been evaded and distorted, but this is the first time we have known any editor with the official figures of the Treasury Department in his hands, to declare publicly by his refusal to print them for the information of his readers!

The reason is obvious and will not be misunderstood. Those official figures knock the bottom out of the Greenback campaign. Those figures expose the falsehoods uttered by the Commercial and its allies in their assaults upon the national credit. That paper intends to falsify in the future, and to do that with any success it must suppress the facts from its columns. So miserable a confession of past falsehood and intended persistence in dishonesty we have never before seen.

We ask every respectable Democratic and Greenback reader of that paper, if that is the sort of exponent he is willing to trust? if he can sympathize with a campaign that plants itself unblushingly upon a systematic suppression of the truth?

THE GRAND MILITARY REUNIONS.

The grand, annual military reunions will be held this year at Albany, N. Y., where the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will assemble on Tuesday June 17. On Wednesday, June 18, the Society of the Army of the Potomac will hold the annual reunion, with public exercises in Tweddle Hall, including an oration by Gen. Joseph R. Hawley, of Hartford, Conn., and a poem by Francis M Finch, Esq., of Ithaca, N. Y. In the evening a banquet will be given at the Delavan House. President Hayes, Generals Sherman, Sheridan and other distinguished officers have announced their intention to be present. The citizens of Albany have the reception in charge and are making preparations to give the veterans a most cordial welcome. It is expected that the attendance will be unusually large. Arrangements have been made for round trip tickets on all the principal lines of travel.

THE NORTH AND SOUTH IN CONGRESS

We hope none of our readers will fail to examine the striking and significant figures presented by Senator Blaine, in the debate on Congressional representation from which we quote on our first page today. The mathematical proofs of political intimidation in the South are presented in a conclusive manner, and Senator Ben Hill's attempt to explain away the convincing testimony of the election figures, is most thoroughly disposed of. At the close of that debate the doughty Georgian must have felt like the bull that butted at a locomotive. The debate touches a matter of national interest, and the Democratic attack upon a New England State rendered the exposition of Senator Blaine peculiarly effective.

SECTIONAL TEXT BOOKS IN THE SOUTH.

[From the Boston Journal.]

Mr Vance of North Carolina stated in the Senate the other day, as a fact which was within his own knowledge, that no partisan text-books exist in the South—Mr. Gordon of Georgia admitted that sectional text-books were used during the war and for some time after its close, but declared that they had been rooted out, and that it would be impossible to find one such book to-day in the hands of any Southern child. These denials would be very reassuring, if they were true. The atrocious history and the treasonable principles which were taught in some of the Southern school books during and after the war were a marvel of ingenious malignity, and it would be almost hopeless to expect much in the way either of intelligence or of loyalty from a generation which was brought up under such training. Mr Gordon assured his colleagues in the Senate that all books of this description had been supplanted by the series prepared by the University of Virginia which contain nothing whatever sectional or political." The latest volume in the series which Mr Gordon praised so warmly for its freedom from sectional bias is the "Southern Students' Handbook for Reading and Oratory," prepared by John G. James of the Texas Military Institute, Austin, Texas—We find in the Cincinnati Commercial some selections from the volume, which will indicate what sort of a book it is which Mr Gordon describes as containing "nothing sectional or political."

In this volume brief biographies of the authors are given. In many cases, their claim to notice is that they served in the Confederate army, or that they "signed the Ordinance of Secession." Paul Hayne is recorded as having emigrated from his native State "to escape negro domination," and of various writers it is said that they took an active part in the redemption of their States from negro rule." The book opens with a State Rights speech by Alexander H Stephens, next comes a eulogy on Robert E Lee, and a little further on is a selection in which the President is characterized as a liar and an autocrat. One writer tells us that the day will come when the names of the Confederate dead will be inscribed on the common roll as "sons worthy of love and reverence." Lee is compared to Cicero, to Cromwell, to Washington. There are three orations by Jefferson Davis, one of them that in which he took his traitorous leave of the Senate. There is an address by Wade Hampton, in which he says:

"Why should we admit we are in the wrong. We believe we have truth on our side. Let us then assert and maintain our faith, and God will in His own good time, make it manifest that we are right. * * If Washington was a patriot Lee can not have been a rebel; if the grand enunciation of the truths of the Declaration of Independence made Jefferson immortal the observance of them can not make Davis a traitor. * * We are gathered here to-day around the graves of Southern men who were slain only because they believed that the principles of 1776 which gave birth to our Republic were equally true in 1861. * * The people of the North have never studied and do not comprehend that Constitution about which they have raved so madly."

One orator represented in the book thanks God that "though Confederate bonds are worthless on the Stock Exchange they will pass current in heaven." In another selection the children are taught that "African slavery is no relic of barbarism to which we cling from ascendency of semi-civilized tastes, habits and principles, but an adjustment of the social and political relations of the races, consistent with the purest justice commended by the highest expediency, and sanctioned by a comprehensive and enlightened humanity." Toombs's speeches in defence of slavery, Timrod's glorification of the Alabama pirates and a furious address to the White Leagues of New Orleans, urging them never to submit to the Federal Government, are among the choice selections. One writer urges his fellow Southerners to swear that they will teach "their children and their children's children that the Confederate dead fought and fell for the only principles upon which regulated Christian freedom can ever be established."

And another writer says:

"But it is not as mere soldiers that we must view our dead. They were the champions of a noble cause the cause of constitutional liberty and of immemorial rights made sacred by the monuments of more than six hundred years. They represented moreover, the principles of self-government, of local freedom, and of the right of a people to decide their own political associations. In them was struck down those ancient and honorable ideas and the community of nations allowed itself to listen to, and virtually to approve, the plea of the imperial and irresponsible centralization that triumphed."

A stanza from a poem entitled "The Conquered Banner" will give an idea of the poetry of the volume:

* * 'And the Banner, it is trailing,
While around it sounds the wailing
Of its people in their woe
For, though conquered, they adore it,
Love the cold, dead hands that bore it,
Weep for those who fell before it,
Pardon those who trailed and tore it—
And oh! wildly they deplore it,
Now to furl and fold it so.'

If such a book as this satisfies Senator Gordon's description as "containing nothing whatever sectional or political," the question occurs, what would a really sectional and political reading book be like?

The great golden chariot in Barnum's procession is said to be an exact copy of the one used by Congressman Ladd in Washington.—Portland Press.

In an interview in Chicago recently Stanley Matthews said of 1880 that he considered "the probabilities of the nomination of Grant apparently greater than those pointing to any other person. Next to him stands Blaine."

Charles Foster as a convert to stalwart Republicanism is about as striking and about as probable as would be a change in Editor Boutelle from his own peculiar self to a publicist of the standing and calibre of Gen Joshua L Chamberlain.—Portland Argus.

Which opinion from so distinguished, patriotic, truthful, cultured, brilliant and courteous a statesman as Mr. John M. Adams, will doubtless prove as valuable to Gen. Chamberlain as it is overwhelming to Editor Boutelle.

OUT IN O-HI-O.

As sung in caucus by General Ewing to the attendant Confederate Brigadiers. They enthusiastically join in a chorus of alternate cheers and sobs.

From each Buckeye hill and valley,
Field and forest, rally! rally!
From each Buckeye swamp and thicket
Rise up for the Bourbon ticket!
Come in one disguise or many!
Come with no ballot or any!
Come in motley garb, if so
We can carry O hi-o!

Ours is scarce a candid platform,
We'll take any form but that form!
In the war both sections bore them
Bravely, and we're sorry for them!
North and South may be applauded,
Heroes always should be lauded,
'Twas a foolish quarrel though—
Thus we'll carry O-hi-o!

We approve—you think it funny?—
Both of gold and moonshine money,
While the fools their thumbs are twiddling
We prefer our money middling
Hard on one side, soft on t'other—
That's the way we'll take it, brother!
Hash is nourishing, you know—
It will carry O-hi-o!

Gold is good—we so esteem it—
If there's paper to redeem it!
Why, the least enlightened scullion
Knows a stone's as good as bullion
If the stamp of some big nation
Is put on the obligation
"To redeem it?" Never! So
Will we carry O-hi-o!

Niggers keep the South fermenting—
They are dreadful unrepenting!
"Fight in Mobile!" (news comes flying)
"Nineteen niggers dead and dying
And one white man sprained his ankle!"
Such assaults our feelings rankle
And the colored savage show—
Hence we'll carry O-hi-o!

If a man, without detection,
Votes three times at one election,
Federal soldiers basely walk up,
Chuck that hero in the lock up,
And excite our rage nor wonder!
Heavens! The tyrants we are under!
States will crush the armed foe—
When we've carried O-hi-o!

Rally! Rally! Up and doing
For the meek subscriber Ewing!
Forward! Forward, all the roster,
For the overthrow of Foster!
Why the dickens did they pick him?
Hickenlooper—who can lick him?
I'm afraid we've nary show
For to carry O-hi-o!

MORE BLOODTHIRSTINESS

[From the N. Y. Tribune.]

The "Okolona idiot" is not without his imitators even at the North. Here is a Democratic newspaper published at New Haven, Conn., mouthing in much the same fashion as the Mississippi editor, talking about what the Democratic party at the North will do if the Republicans do not cease their wicked agitations, threatening bloodshed and the horrors of civil war as glibly as though he had behind him regiments and brigades with swords drawn, to whom he had only to cry "Havoc!" to deluge the thirsty earth with gore. "If "through their wicked agitations," he says, "blood should be spilt, it will not be Southern blood. The battle-field will be in the "North. It will not be the North against "the South, it will be Republican soldiers "fighting Democratic soldiers. It will not "be a sectional war, it will be a civil war "with all its unspeakable horrors. It will "be neighbor against neighbor, and brother against brother. It will be well for "these madmen to consider well their "steps." The blood thirsty conqueror who is holding the Democratic legions of Connecticut in leash to give the wicked agitators time to recover from their madness before they are destroyed, was provoked to the utterance of these warning words by the fact that many persons took occasion to say on Decoration Day, that in their belief the restoration to power of the Democratic party, led by a Solid South, was a mistake.

This able editor desires above all things to bury the animosities of the war. And, of course, they cannot be buried except by giving the Democratic party and the Solid South full control of the Government. Anything short of that imports distrust, lack of confidence, implacableness, and relentless hate. When Northern men who helped put the rebellion down come forward on Decoration Day, and being reminded by the occasion of the cause for which so many brave men died, express doubts as to the policy which puts in possession of the Government the very men they died defending the Government against, it is a "wicked agitation." It revives the bitter memories of the past. It retards the progress of that conciliation and the coming of that peace, the full flower of whose consummation we cannot see till a Democratic President is inaugurated, and the great wrong which was perpetrated upon the South in the election of Abraham Lincoln—to avenge which the rebellion was entered on—is atoned for and set right. Whoever opposes this, according to this Connecticut authority, is "mad." Whoever wickedly agitates the subject invites bloodshed and the horrors of civil war. Civil war, mind you, not between the North and South, but between brother and brother, neighbor and neighbor, the very civilest kind of civil war. And we judge from the determined tone of this warrior that it will begin in Connecticut, possibly at New Haven. We have seen no such fierceness anywhere north of Okolona.

What effect this proclamation will have upon the wicked agitators in Connecticut who persist in distrusting the Democratic party and the Solid South, is yet to be seen. We have no desire to see bloodshed there, but if this writer is half as earnest as he seems, and really has the troops behind him that he thinks he has, it must end in that, unless the agitation is stopped. The agitators too seem very much in earnest, and ten chances to one will not heed the warning "to consider well their steps." It would be very much like them to keep up the agitation, and precipitate civil war. But they have at least had fair warning. If they do not heed it, they will have only themselves to blame when the New Haven editor, in the simple discharge of his duty begins spilling their blood. It is true that just such threats were made at the beginning of the war by Senator Eaton, and perhaps the Connecticut agitators think there is no more to be feared now than there was then, that because Mr. Eaton's threats were not carried out these will not be. The case is different. Mr. Eaton had other business to attend to, and it escaped his mind—just as his "jumping on Blaine" did—until it was too late to start the "unspeakable horrors." The author of the present proclamation is a newspaper editor, and can give his whole mind to it. We consider him an uncommonly dangerous person. If the Legislature were in session we should advise the appointment of a committee to try and compromise by turning over a hundred or two agitators to him to slay, just to appease his appetite and keep him from laying waste the State. Unless the agitation ceases, we look for a good deal of bloodshed.

WARREN POWDER MILLS
A Terrible Explosion

ROCKLAND June 9 Mr John F. Young, formerly of Ossipee, N H, while cleaning a shell mill at the Warren, Me, powder mill this morning caused an explosion by which he came near losing his life. He says that the explosion was caused by a [illegible] off the scales with a composition hammer and that he ran for the river and jumped in. He was found on the banks senseless. Mr Young was conveyed to his home. His face was burned also his arms and hands.

FROM PORTLAND
The Confidence Woman

PORTLAND June 9 Mr James S. Spring arrived this afternoon with a requisition from the Governor of California and will take Mrs Clemence, the confidence woman back to the Pacific coast.

FROM NORWAY
Forger Arrested

NORWAY, June 9 A C Cushman, of South Paris, was arrested last Thursday charged with forging his father's signature to a note for $200 given to Moses Chesley, of Oxford. Recent developments have brought to light several more of the same kind in which the names of several prominent citizens of Paris were found. Nothing positive is yet known as to the extent of this villainy or the length of time during which it has been carried on. An examination is to be held in a few days when more light will probably be thrown on the matter.

FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS First Session
Senate

WASHINGTON, June 9

Mr Coke's resolution to discharge the Finance Committee from further consideration of the Warner silver bill, and to deliver it before the Senate for action, was laid before the Senate, but postponed till to-morrow on motion of Mr Voorhees.

A motion by Mr Burnside for an executive session was rejected. Mr McDonald's bill authorizing the employment of the military and land and naval forces of the United States in certain cases was taken up. Mr Harris read a speech in support of it.

House

Several bills and resolutions were introduced after which a bill relative to the amending of the Statutes relating to the importation of neat cattle for breeding purposes was passed.

Mr Atkins reported the Legislative Appropriation bill with a motion to suspend the rules and pass it.

The bill makes many independent appropriations not in last year's bill, among them $5,000 for the expenses of a delegate to the International Silver Convention. The salaries of the Southern Claims Commission is continued to May 1880.

It repeals the law requiring biennial examinations of pensioners and provides for [illegible] for payment of arrearages, of the $10,000,000 reserve currency fund now in the Treasury.

After examining the bill Mr Atkins renewed the motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill. The motion was carried and the bill passed.

Mr McMahon reported the Judicial expense appropriation bill. Ordered printed and recommitted. The bill appropriating $50,000 for construction of a Marine Hospital at Memphis passed.

Mr Atkins moved to suspend the rules and pass the Army Appropriation bill previously reported June 6th by Mr Clymer without action the House on motion of Mr Atkins adjourned.

THE ZULU WAR.
The British Distrust of Cetywayo.

LONDON, June 9 Advices from Capetown up to May 20 have been received. The Zulu king Cetywayo, on the 16th, dispatched an envoy to Col Crealock asking him to send a European to discuss terms of peace and John Dunn accordingly went to Cetywayo's kraal but has returned the negotiations having failed because the British refuse any terms but unconditional surrender. Cetywayo's good faith is doubted and it is thought probable that he will shortly throw his whole force against the Tugela column. The contemplated rapid march against Cetywayo's kraal at Ulundi has been abandoned.

Transport difficulties are increasing owing to scarcity of grass. The health of the troops is improving. It is rumored that Minor Chardo who distinguished himself at Rooke drift has died of fever. It is rumored that the Zulu commander, Dabulamanzi while on his way to surrender to the British was intercepted and killed. A great fire at Grytown destroyed a large quantity of commissary stores.

CHICAGO
Robbers Captured

CHICAGO June 9 Robbers who stole $9,000 from an Illinois Central Railroad Messenger Saturday, were captured yesterday. They are three well known thieves. A portion of the money was recovered.

OHIO
Democratic Campaign Funds.

NEW YORK, June 9 Eastern hard money Democrats, says the Tribune, refuse to subscribe any money for Ewing's Ohio campaign.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.
The Frosts.

BOSTON June 9 New Hampshire despatches state that the severe frosts Saturday and Sunday in many places nearly destroyed the crops and injured the fruit trees.

GENERAL GRANT
Reception by the King of Siam

NEW YORK June 9 A Bangkok letter gives an interesting account of the reception of General Grant by the King of Siam who paid every attention to the ex President, ex-Secretary Borie and others of the party. A grand palace was especially devoted to the Americans. Visits of ceremony were made and returned by the King and court, banquets were given in honor of the visitors, and the royal entertainment lasted seven days.

KANSAS
Severe Hail Storm

TOPEKA, June 9 A severe hail storm passed over a portion of the country this afternoon, doing considerable damage the greatest being in the neighborhood of Wichita where hail stones of 5 to 12 ounces fell thickly doing great damage to crops, metallic roofs and glass.

LAWRENCE June 9 A violent storm passed over the city this afternoon, blowing down a steeple and seriously damaging other buildings.

RUSSIA.
The Czar's Assassin

ST PETERSBURG, June 9. Solovieff, who attempted the assassination of the Emperor, was hanged this morning.

FRANCE.
Lively Time in the Deputies.

PARIS, June 9 A scene occurred in the Chamber of Deputies during the balloting on the motion for the prosecution of M De Cassagnac. M Levert Bonapartist, and M. Margne, Radical, came to blows and had to be separated.

WASHINGTON.
The Warner Silver Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 9 A caucus of Democratic Senators was held shortly after the adjournment of the House, called by friends of the Warner Silver bill with a view of convincing their colleagues that from a party point of view it would be desirable to procure final action on that measure by the Senate at the present session. It was not proposed to make the bill a caucus measure except to the extent of insuring prompt action upon it, but the discussion developed such irreconcilable difference of opinion that no proposition whatever was pushed to a vote and the caucus adjourned without taking any action and without the members being any nearer an agreement than when they assembled. The indications in the caucus were that enough Democrats would vote against Coke's resolution, discharging the committee from further consideration of the bill, to defeat it.

Mr McCrary's Nomination.

Leading Southern Representatives are authority for the statement that the Senate will take no action on the nomination of McCrary until the action of the President on the appropriation bills is known. If any of those bills are vetoed McCrary's nomination will be rejected.

The Subsidiary Coins Bill

The bill providing for exchange of subsidiary coins for lawful money and to make such coins a legal tender for all sums not exceeding $10, was signed by the President this morning.

CALIFORNIA
Declined

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9 Judge George A Johnson having declined the workingmen's nomination for associate Justice of the Supreme Court the Committee nominated S M Buck.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEP'T OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, Washington, D C, June 10—(1 A M)

Indications

For New England Lower pressure, winds mostly from S. E to S W, and warmer, clear or partly cloudy weather with local rains.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES.

Base ball; Bowdoins vs Bates, Saturday afternoon, 9 to 8 in favor of Bates, 10 innings.

The Montreal Orangemen will make no public demonstration on the 12th of July.

John Mahoney, of Edgeworth, Mass, while working on the track of the Boston & Maine Railroad, Saturday, was struck and instantly killed by the inward Portland express train at Malden.

Aliko Pasha, Governor General of Roumelia has appointed 62 functionaries whereof only two are Turks. The Porte has asked him to explain his action.

Official intelligence has been received that bloodshed and violence occur daily in Janina, Arta and Prevesa, caused by insubordination of Turkish troops.

The North German Gazette states that the German foreign office has received confirmation of the reports of the destruction of the German mission station in Natal and of the ill treatment of missionaries by the British. Communications are still proceeding with the British Government on the subject.

At North Troy, Vt, there was a snow storm Friday night, and the high lands were covered with snow. The weather was very cold and crops were much damaged by the snow and frost.

An attempt was made early Saturday morning to burn a house near York Harbor, owned and occupied by Samuel Hiltz. The building, which is reported to be heavily insured, is mortgaged to one of the banks of Portsmouth, N. H.

Calcutta advices state that riots have occurred in Godavery, district of Madrass Presidency. The local papers dignify them by the name of rebellion. A considerable force has been engaged in suppressing the disturbances.

Truth of the report that Germany has called the attention of European governments to the improper and inhuman character of the war in South America and suggesting joint interference is denied.

Lorillard's colt, Duke of Magenta, being amiss has been scratched for the Ascot gold cup, Thursday.

It is stated that the President has tendered the portfolio of Secretary of War to Chas F. Maderson of Nebraska.

The coffee crop in the vicinity of Port Navo has suffered great losses. The weather is so variable that all regular work is impeded. The heavy rains have prevented the drying off the coffee and destroyed the roads. Hail stones have stripped coffee orchards of a good portion of the fruit. In some localities the crop will be a total failure.

The London Times says that the recent rise in cotton at Liverpool is a Godsend to that long suffering centre of commercial inactivity. But for this relief we are told there must have been a great crash.

Andrew Stuart & Co, New York bankers have failed caused by Stewart & Co's suspension in Liverpool. Liabilities $150 000.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has referred the nomination of Secretary McCrary to be United States Circuit Judge to a sub committee for consideration.

Germany is seriously offended at right of search claimed and exercised by Peru against the German vessels and a strong protest will be made.

POVERTY AND SUFFERING. "I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did me no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I procured Hop Bitters and commenced their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost. I know it. A Workingman."

They were considerably frightened but escaped unhurt.

Children's Day was fittingly observed Sunday at the Methodist church, Orono. Some twenty-five elaborate and tastefully arranged bouquets were placed about the pulpit and altar, and upon the organ a finely wrought motto bearing the words "The Children's Day." The decorations reflected credit for the ladies having it in charge. An appropriate address was delivered by the pastor, Rev. L. A. L Rich.

THE WALKING EXHIBITION. The Bangor Band will furnish music for the walking exhibition in Norombega Hall Wednesday evening. In connection with the other attractions there will be a match between Patrick McNamara, of Oldtown, and Walter Haney, of this city, for a distance of ten miles. They will start promptly at eight o'clock and the winner will receive a silver watch. As both of these men are very good walkers an interesting match is anticipated.

HAYING TOOLS. As the haying season approaches the farmers are looking about with a view of purchasing rakes and mowers, and we would invite their attention to the advertisement of J. S. Bartlett, who is agent for the sale of the New Champion Mower and Tiger Horse Rake. It is claimed that these machines are without rivals, and that both have been awarded medals for their many points of excellence. We learn that W. A. Cromwell, Esq., New England Agent of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern R. Mr. Vanderbilt has secured a driving and efficient representative for his lines in the East.

THIRD ANNIVERSARY. The Women's Christian Temperance Union observed the third anniversary of their organization in City Hall last evening, and the attendance was large. The programme, as previously announced by us, was one of much excellence, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The musical selections as rendered by the quartette were particularly fine and the addresses by Rev. S. L. B. Spear and others contained many thoughts well calculated to encourage those engaged in the cause of temperance.

A. M. Chandler, of East Corinth, lost a valuable ox a few weeks since, and his death was so mysterious that a search was made for the cause, when it was found that a darning needle, that had been used for stringing apples and thrown out with the parings, had been swallowed by the animal and lodged in his heart.

GARLAND ITEMS. Mr. Editor: There was a large gathering at West Garland, Sunday forenoon to witness the baptism of ten converts. In the afternoon from one to two thousand persons gathered at the Hathaway's stream, in the east part of the town, where the Rev. L. Hutchings of East New Portland, formerly pastor of the Free Baptist church of Garland, assisted by Rev John Higgins, of Charleston, administered the ordinance of baptism to thirty four applicants.——The Exeter Free Baptist quarterly meeting convenes at the Free Baptist church of this place Wednesday next.

SCHOONER SUNK. Our correspondent at Calais, under date of the 9th, writes: E A Barnard & Son have just received the following telegram, dated Boston "Owen P. Hinds sunk by unknown steamer off Chatham, Mass. Crew all saved." The schooner Owen P Hinds was loaded with coal and on her way from New York to Portland. This is the second vessel that E. A Barnard & Son have had run down the last few days—the other being the schooner E. L. Higgins that was run down and badly damaged by a Bangor vessel when coming from Boston on her last trip.

NEWPORT ITEMS. Mr. Editor: The Newport Reform Club held a public temperance meeting at Meridian Hall on Sunday afternoon, and able speeches were made by Bros'. J. H French, L H. Todd, Revs' Byrne and Wade and others, singing by the choir etc. Mr F L Atkins reading of "Rock of Ages" was one of the pleasing parts of the programme, and was well received. The attendance was large and shows that this is a temperance people although there is nothing being done by those who have the power to suppress the rum traffic.

BELFAST ITEMS. Mr Editor: An old unoccupied house on Bridge street owned by A K P Moore, of this city, was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon. A strong breeze was blowing, and, but for the exertions of the Fire Department, an extensive conflagration might have resulted. Loss covered by insurance. The fire was undoubtedly of incendiary origin.——Last Saturday, two boys, sons of Mr A D Wench, of this city, were capsized in a sail boat near the Northport campground. They clung to the boat, and were rescued by parties living in the vicinity.——T R Simonton, Esq of Camden, delivered an acceptable temperance lecture to a good audience in this city, Sunday.

FROM OLDTOWN. A large concourse of the citizens of Oldtown gathered at the side of the river, on Treat & Webster's Island, on Sunday morning at nine o clock to witness the baptism of a number of converts by Rev Mr Ratteray. The day was pleasant, but rather chilly. After prayer and some impressive remarks by Mr. Ratteray the candidates came forward and were baptized in the usual form. In the afternoon after an impressive sermon by Rev Mr Ratteray thirteen persons received the right hand of fellowship and united with the Baptist church — The boom shut down Saturday on account of a strong contrary wind.——Heavy frost on low lands in this vicinity on Sunday night.——The old West Branch logs have been rafted at the boom.

DISCHARGED FROM CUSTODY. A few days since we published an item in relation to a confession made by Prescott, a former resident of this city, in which he asserted that he was innocent of the murder of Williams, and that the foul crime was committed by a woman named Nell Pray. The woman was arrested but was discharged from custody Saturday, as Judge Knight decided there was not a particle of evidence on which to grant a warrant against her. She was willing to remain in custody so that the State could get all the evidence desired, and Gen Mattocks, her counsel said he was ready for the examination. It was expected by counsel for Prescott to produce a witness to the murder but they did not. Prescott would never make the confession to Marshal Bridges that he did to his counsel, his mother and the reporters.

DOVER ITEMS—HEAVY SHOWERS—THE BIGAMIST STEADMAN. Mr Editor: During the week past we have been freely visited by showers, winds, frosts, etc. The shower of Thursday, accompanied by hail, did considerable damage in Sangerville and vicinity, but did not extend far in this direction. Friday evening a heavy shower and wind passed over us, doing some damage to trees, etc. There was a heavy frost Sunday night which must have done considerable injury to tender plants, although many took the precaution to cover them, and such are probably safe.——The return of "Rev" Mr Steadman and escort is expected in a few days. When leaving us the reverend gentleman said he should be back some time and explain matters but it is doubtful if he anticipated such an early return and at the public expense. From letters received it would seem that his parents and wife in New Brunswick, are very respectable people and are greatly afflicted by his course.——From present appearances the September term of Court will be of unusual interest to the public, for in addition to the trial of Steadman, which will probably occur at that time, an action has been brought against one of the prominent business men of this county for adultery, and the case will probably come off at the same term.

UP-RIVER NOTES. Our correspondent writes: The third Mattawamkeag drive passed Winn Village Monday, taking with them Reuben Crocker's, Powers', Stowell's and others' logs from Salmon stream, and Elijah Webster's drive from Sebois from the East Branch. Crocker drove all of the logs on Salmon stream, and Sterns and Osgood took them from the mouth of the Mattawamkeag; also Webster's logs. Webster has about 1,300,000 feet of logs, and the Salmon stream drive between two and three million. The Mattawamkeag Log Driving Company has in this drive out of the Mattawamkeag and what is in the part, the rear of which, is at Lincoln, from twenty to twenty-five million feet of logs, making in the third and second drives about twenty-eight million. They anticipate catching up with the second drive by Wednesday. Some sixteen men are ahead and sixty-five or seventy just passed Winn, while fifteen men are with the last drive now near Wytopitlock stream. J. W. Burke recently started with a crew to drive F. A. Reed's and his own logs from Gordon Brook.——The Selectmen were to lay out a new road in Winn a few days since, but have postponed it. The road is to accommodate new settlers in the back part of Winn, on lands of H. Poor & Son, and is intended to reach a road in Lee near Delano's, running from East Winn schoolhouse to the so-called North road in Lee.

SELLING A STOLEN TEAM. A few days ago a man by the name of Charles Hall, formerly of Bradford, arrived in the city with a good team which he offered to sell Mr. Lemuel Nichols for one hundred dollars. As the fellow was rather green and innocent looking, Mr. N. concluded that he was hard up and wanted to realize some ready money, so he purchased the team, supposing it was all right. The latter part of last week a man by the name of West, a livery stable keeper of Houlton, arrived in the city and after making some inquiries concerning a team that had been stolen from him, he called at Mr. Nichols' stable and identified his recent purchase as the team taken from his stable in Houlton. He said Hall hired the team for three weeks, and as he failed to return at the given time he started in pursuit with the above result. As he was convinced that Mr West owned the team Mr Nichols surrendered it to him at once, and pocketed the loss.

Police Court

In the police court yesterday Jerry J. Canning and William Cochran were each fined $3 and costs for drunkenness.

Micajah H Reed, of Hampden, the fellow who took the team Saturday and started out for a ride, was arraigned in the police court yesterday for drunkenness and fined $5 and costs and paid.

WINTERPORT
Business Improving—Crops Promising—People Industrious and in Good Spirits

Our Winterport correspondent writes on Monday that every joiner or carpenter in the town is at work and some employed from other places, being the first time for five years. Messrs Pierce & Rowe, of Frankfort, have a large force at work on their quarry. Coasters are getting 55 cents per ton on coal more than last year, and higher lumber freights. The grass is looking finely and hay selling at an advance.

Steadman, the Clerical Fraud.

The Portland Press says: It has been ascertained that Steadman, the pretended clergyman who swindled the people of Dover is the son of a Baptist minister, and until a few years ago was employed in driving teams, and doing any kind of work he could get to do. He very suddenly claimed to be converted, and being the son of a minister, got a license to preach. He married Miss Rachael Smith, of the Parish of Salisbury, N B, August 8 1875, and his wife now lives there, having two children, the oldest a boy, and the youngest one a girl. He had no property, and when he left his wife sold her cow to get money to leave telling her he was going to Nova Scotia. Since that time she has not heard from him until last June, when she had a letter signed "Manley," without date, and mailed on the railroad, saying that he was preaching, but had a small salary, and could not go to see her. He stole her marriage license when he left and report is he ran away from Nova Scotia with a young woman who knew he was a married man, and came to this State. She returned to Nova Scotia about the time Steadman came to Dover. He left a large lot of bills unpaid when he left New Brunswick, and told one of his creditors God had shown him an easier way to live than to work, and he should pay no more old debts. His wife is a fine woman, whose parents are poor and he has two fine children. His father is nearly distracted with grief, and his mother and wife are also nearly insane.

FROM DEXTER.
An Old Iron-Clad Visits the Scene of His Former Labors—Dexter Band will not go Away on the Fourth—Dexter's Tax payers—More about the Coming Tramp—A Variety of Items

DEXTER, June 9th, 1879.

To Editor Daily Whig and Courier:

Mr Hillman, of Auburn, one of the Iron-clads of that city who was here several years ago, and whose labors resulted in the organization of the Dexter Reform Club was present and took a prominent part in the public temperance meeting at Town Hall last Sunday afternoon. He is an effective speaker, and well adapted to the reform work. I understand that he intends soon to commence a collegiate course of study at Bates and that it is his intention as soon as he completed his education, to become a minister of the Gospel. He preached at the Methodist church on Sunday. The good wishes of the Dexter people will surely follow him.

THE BAND REMAINS IN DEXTER JULY FOURTH.

The Committee of Penobscot Lodge, having attended to their duty in canvassing among the members with a view to attending the dedication at Belfast, do not meet with sufficient encouragement to warrant them in engaging the Dexter Band for the occasion, and Col Morrill has now closed a contract with the musicians comprising it to furnish music on the 4th of July, for the pedestrian contest which is spoken of in another place. Probably when the day comes, there will be plenty of the brethren who will be enthusiastic to visit Belfast, and loud in their lamentations at being obliged to go without music.

CARELESS SHOOTING

The other day a bullet or slug, which evidently came from a distant lot, went through one of the windows in Mr Asa Moore's house in this village and struck a post in the room with a good deal of force. There is altogether too much of this careless shooting, and I wonder that there are so few accidents. Some more definite law is needed, bearing upon the careless use of fire-arms.

TAX PAYERS IN DEXTER.

There are seventeen property owners in Dexter whose tax is over $100, eleven over $150, four over $200; three over $400. The Dexter mills pay a tax of $2073 90.

THE PEDESTRIAN RACE AGAIN.

Col Morrill has changed his programme a little for the pedestrian race. The purses will be $70, $40, $30 $10, instead of $90 $30, $20, $10, as first announced; Toole will not be required to give any start to other contestants. Briggs, of Portland, and Taylor, of Augusta, both of whom were in the Maine Pedestrian team which lately won the silver bean-pot in a contest with teams from Massachusetts and Rhode Island, have signified their intention of entering this race. Miss May Belle Sherman is also expected to be there.

SUNDRY ITEMS.

The weather last Saturday was better adapted to the latter part of October than the middle of June. Those upon the road found ulsters and fur gloves conducive to comfort.

There was a hail-storm at Dover on Friday. It was by no means as severe as the great storm last year, but in some places the leaves were pretty effectually stripped from the trees.

Commercial travelers complain that they do not sell so many goods in Dexter as they used to. But it may be that they get paid better for those which they do sell. The "thinning out" process has been in operation in this as in other places.

The Master of Parian Lodge, of Corinna informs me that some twenty of its members will probably go to Belfast on the 4th.

Last Saturday night ice formed as thick and thicker than window glass. Some damage was done by the frost. In connection with the peculiarities of the weather that have been noticed lately, a gentleman tells me that he remembers a 4th of July in Dexter when it was necessary to keep a good fire all day in order to be comfortable, while the day following the heat was very oppressive, the thermometer indicating 100°, in the shade! It is very common for people to forget the past, however and to say "such weather was never known before."

Ten persons were baptized at West Garland on Sunday. There is soon to be another baptism in Dexter. There seems to be quite a degree of activity manifest in the different churches. They appear to be all waking up to the fact that it is not necessary to insure success that the services of "itinerant evangelists" be called into requisition, but that earnest and united work on the part of the societies and the regular clergy is sure to be felt.

It is expected that quite a crowd will be attracted here by the walking contest in the park the 4th of July. Col Morrill has secured the services of Dexter Band, of some twenty men, for the day. In the evening there will be a theatre at the hall to be followed by fire-works, and possibly an open air band concert. There are a lot of boats on the pond, of various styles, and it has been suggested that a boat-race may be one of the attractions of the day. If anything of this kind is arranged, announcement will be made in due time.

The singing of Miss Blaisdell of your city, in the opera at Dover on the 5th, inst. was much admired by those of our people who went over there on that occasion.

Rev Mr Battles' sermon, on Wm. Lloyd Garrison was listened to with close attention by a large congregation, and it is spoken of in terms of high compliment. He was not confined to notes, but spoke right at the people, and with the fire that he used to show when working with Garrison in the great cause of freedom.

Dexter with its screaming newsboys really has a metropolitan air.

There has never before been seen in this village such a fine display of show paper as now appears upon the mammoth billboards which have been erected and covered by Barnum's advertising corps. It attracts a great deal of notice and there is evidently an interest being excited which will result in a crowd of great magnitude here on the 21th instant.

Several of the mills and shops are doing nothing to-day, as it is necessary to shut the water back so that the workmen engaged in repairing the bridge may not be hindered.

There is a temperance praise meeting at the Club Room this evening. Mr Hillman seems to be reviving some of the old time interest.

The big picture of Col Goshen, the giant that travels with Barnum's show, attracts a good deal of attention. I was talking with a fellow the other day from the rural districts, and he said he knew "half a dozen chaps that did not weigh much over 200 pounds who could floor the Colonel every time." He said science was what did the business, and that the Colonel was too big and clumsy to "rastle" anyway!

FEELS YOUNG AGAIN. "My mother was afflicted a long time with Neuralgia and a dull, heavy inactive condition of the whole system, headache, nervous prostration, and was almost helpless. SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

CONDUCTED BY J. G. HOLLAND.

The Handsomest Illustrated Magazine in the World.

The American edition of this periodical is now MORE THAN 70,000 MONTHLY,

And it has a larger circulation in England than any other American magazine. Every number contains about one hundred and fifty pages, and from fifty to seventy five original wood cut illustrations.

Announcements for 1878–9.

Among the attractions for the coming year are the following:

"HAWORTH'S," a serial novel, by Mrs Frances Hodgson Burnett, author of "That Lass o' Lowrie's." The scene of Mrs. Burnett's new novel is laid in Lancashire, the hero is a young inventor of American birth. "Haworth's" is the longest story Mrs. Burnett has yet written. It will run through twelve numbers of the Monthly, beginning with November, 1878, and will be profusely illustrated.

FALCONBERG, a serial novel, by H. H. Boyesen, author of "Gunnar," "The Man who Lost His Name," &c. In this romance, the author graphically describes the peculiarities of Norse immigrant life in a Western settlement.

A STORY OF NEW ORLEANS, by George W. Cable, to be begun on the conclusion of "Falconberg." This story will exhibit the state of society in Creole Louisiana about the years 1803-4-5, the time of the Cession, and a period bearing a remarkable likeness to the present Reconstruction period.

PORTRAITS OF AMERICAN POETS. This series (begun in August with the portrait of Bryant) will be continued, that of Longfellow appearing in November. These portraits are drawn from life by Wyatt Eaton and engraved by T. Cole. They will be printed separately on tinted paper, as frontispieces of four different numbers. Illustrated sketches of the lives of the poets will accompany these portraits.

STUDIES IN THE SIERRAS.—A series of papers (mostly illustrated) by John Muir the California naturalist. The most graphic and picturesque, and at the same time exact and trustworthy studies of "The California Alps" that have yet been made. The series will sketch the California Passes, Lakes, Wind Storms and Forests.

A NEW VIEW OF BRAZIL. Mr. Herbert H. Smith, of Cornell University, a companion of the Champney [illegible], who has spent a long time in Brazil, will, with Mr J. Wells Champney, [illegible] through "The Great South," a series of papers on the present condition of the cities, rivers and resources of the great Empire of South America.

THE "JOHNNY REB PAPERS," by an "ex-Confederate soldier, will be among the racier contributions to Scribner during the coming year. They are written and illustrated by Mr. Allen C. Redwood, of Baltimore. The first of the series, "Johnny Reb at Play," appears in the November number.

THE LEADING EUROPEAN UNIVERSITIES. We are now having prepared for SCRIBNER, articles on the leading Universities of Europe. They will be written by an American College Professor, Mr. H. H. Boyesen, of Cornell (author of "Falconberg," etc.) and will include sketches of the leading men in each of the most important Universities of Great Britain and the Continent.

Among the additional series of papers to appear may be mentioned those on HOW SHALL WE SPELL (two papers by Prof. Lounsbury); THE NEW SOUTH LAWN PLANTING FOR SMALL PLACES (by Samuel Parsons, of Flushing); CANADA OF TO-DAY; AMERICAN ART AND ARTISTS; AMERICAN ARCHAEOLOGY; MODERN INVENTORS; also Papers of Travel, History, Physical Science, Studies in Literature, Political and Social Science, Stories, Poems. ST. NICHOLAS, Scribner's Illustrated Magazine FOR GIRLS AND BOYS.

AN IDEAL CHILDREN'S MAGAZINE.

Messrs. SCRIBNER & Co., in 1873, began the publication of ST. NICHOLAS, an Illustrated Magazine for Girls and Boys, with Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge as editor. Five years have passed since the first number was issued, and the magazine has won the highest position. It has a monthly circulation of OVER 50,000 COPIES.

It is published simultaneously in London and New York and the transatlantic recognition is almost as general and hearty as the American. Although the progress of the magazine has been a steady advance, it has not reached its editor's ideal of best, because her ideal continually outruns it, and the magazine as swiftly follows after. To-day ST. NICHOLAS stands

Alone in the World of Books:

The New York Tribune has said of it: "ST. NICHOLAS has reached a higher platform, and commands for its service wider resources in art and letters than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of Scribner's press."

Good Things for 1878–9.

The arrangements for literary and art contributions for the new volume—the sixth—are complete, drawing from already favorite sources, as well as from promising new ones. Mr. Frank R. Stockton's new serial story for boys,

"A JOLLY FELLOWSHIP,"

Will run through the twelve monthly parts,—beginning with the number for November, 1878, the first of the volume,—and will be illustrated by James E. Kelly. The story is one of travel and adventure in Florida and the Bahamas. For the girls, a continued tale,

"Half a Dozen Housekeepers,"

By Katharine D. Smith, with illustrations by Frederick Dielman, begins in the same number, and a fresh serial by Susan Coolidge, entitled "Eyebright," with plenty of pictures, will be commenced early in the volume. There will also be a continued fairy tale called

"Rumpty Dudget's Tower,"

Written by Julian Hawthorne, and illustrated by Alfred Fredericks. Among the other familiar features of St. Nicholas, the editor preserves a good humored silence, content, perhaps, to let her five volumes already issued, prophesy concerning the sixth in respect to short stories, pictures, poems, humor, instructive sketches, and the lure and lore of "Jack in the Pulpit," the "Very Little Folks" department, and the "Letter box," and "Riddle box."

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

☞ The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above furnished at $32.21 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.
